F.U.A. Executive Meets Premier

On November 6th the F.U.A. executive met with Premier Manning to discuss the question of gasoline prices in Alberta. A brief was presented asking for a full investigation into the price of gasoline and oil and the establishment of a price related to cost of production within the province.

In the discussion which followed Premier Manning maintained that price control of any kind was impractical and that gasoline prices were not out of line in Alberta. He doubted if investigation would be of any value. He offered to compile and make available to the F.U.A. certain facts and figures regarding the oil industry, including comparative prices in various areas. This will be done as soon as possible.

Some discussion took place on the control of seismograph work on the oil fields and the following resolution was passed and is being sent to Mr. Howe and Mr. Gardiner:

"Resolved that we consider it imperative that the federal government should immediately make provision for some method whereby western farmers can be financed until a much larger part of the 1953 crop can be marketed."

Plans have been completed by the hockey club for their big Turkey Bingo, to be held Wednesday next, November 18, starting at 8:30 p.m. in the Armories.

Twenty grade "A" turkeys as well as hams and chickens will be offered as prizes and there will be free games during the evening.

The purpose of the bingo, of course, is to raise funds for the operation of the Didsbury Ramblers hockey club in the Central Alberta Hockey League this season. Last year, the clubs first try at the league, they provided crowd-pleasing hockey at every game and were definitely a contender all the way. This season the competition will be tougher and we must strengthen to stay in the running. Naturally it is going to cost more money.

The executive felt that the support shown the club last season will be greatly increased this term and have arranged to sell season tickets for all scheduled league games. The sale of these tickets will give the club more working capital at the start of the season, when it is needed most, and will also allow fans to save a few dollars on admission charges as the rate is lower than what it would cost should you pay for each game individually.

If you want good hockey again this season get out and support the club by attending the bingo game and ordering your season tickets early.

GOVERNMENT BUSINESS

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION

The present-day supply of electrical power to 21,386 Alberta farms has been made possible by the co-operation of the farmer, through his Rural Electrification Association; the Provincial Treasurer, representing the Government of Alberta; and privately-owned power companies.

THE FARMER, working through his association, acts as organizer and arranges for equipment and for private financial assistance or government assistance. Since 1947, 799 Rural Electrification Associations have been chartered under the Co-operative Associations Act, administered by the Department of Industries and Labor.

THE PROVINCIAL TREASURER, under the authorization of the Rural Electrification Revolving Fund Act, passed during the last Alberta Legislature sessions, grants loans from a fund of $10,000,000. In addition, the Provincial Treasurer can guarantee the borrowings of Rural Electrification Associations, provided interest on such loans does not exceed 3 1/2 percent over a maximum of 10 years. The Alberta Government has guaranteed borrowings of 192 associations for a total of $6,500,000. The government has made direct loans of $1,515,000 to some 80 Rural Electrification Associations.

THE POWER COMPANIES build and operate power lines at cost. Lines are built on an estimated cost basis; refunds are made when warranted by final cost figures.

Your government assists Alberta farmers with rural electrification, making every effort to expand high line facilities all over the province.

The availability of man and materials to build power lines is the only factor limiting your government's assistance to Rural Electrification Associations.

TIME WELL SPENT

A glance at the calendar these days reminds us that the year is fast approaching the evening of its days.

To those who have seen the fulfilment of their hopes and dreams the passing of time is accepted in a spirit of quiet satisfaction.

They are reaping the reward of what they had set their hearts upon. How they must be envied by those who have been merely content to hope and have done nothing to bring their dreams to reality. To such people the calendar is an unpleasant reminder that time — like tide — never stands still.

Time has no pity for the lazy and less sympathy for those who abuse what it offers — opportunity and the chance to make the best of things.

The fact that we have made little use of our opportunities during the past ten months need not stop us from making amends. There are another two months of the year to go — two months to wipe out all our little personal failures and shortcomings.

Time flies for everyone, but never more pleasantly — more profitably — than for the person who tries to make each passing day happier than the previous one for himself and others.

17 Year Old Duck Is Shot

Just how it cooked up for eating wasn't disclosed by Allan Hildahl, of Minot, North Dakota, when he reported shooting a Pintail duck which was at least 17 years old.

Arriving at the age of the bird was a simple matter because it was a banded duck and the metal tag on the bird's leg gave the information that it had been banded by the Fish and Wild Life Branch of Washington, D.C., May, 1936.

Because it was banded at that time it means the duck must have been at least a full-sized bird and at least six months old. It might even have been a few years older. Mr. Hildahl shot the bird while hunting south of Torquay, Sask. The hunter got the "old one" and one other Pintail with one shot.

The information on the band has been forwarded to the Fish and Wild Life Branch at Washington.

UNDER-AGE DRIVERS NOT COVERED BY INSURANCE

The attention of the public is drawn to the fact that Automobile owners carrying insurance and permitting under-age children to drive the vehicles, are asking for a lot of trouble if there should be any accident.

Policies of insurance do not apply to vehicles when operated by under-age drivers unless the policies are endorsed and an additional premium paid for the additional risk.

It is not legal for any boy or girl under 16 years of age to operate a motor vehicle. Any boy or girl having attained the age of 16 can get a driver's licence with the consent of their parents. It is illegal, besides being inadvisable, for the owners of motor vehicles to permit any person to operate the same under a driver's licence has been secured.

Your insurance agent can give you all the information you may require in this matter.

HARD UP

Municipal government is democracy close to home. It's as close to most of us as the nearest phone. Of late, however, its financial problems have been as near as the hole in the road out front or the chipped sidewalk at the end of the street.

Relying on the property tax for virtually all of their tax revenues, most municipal governments simply haven't had the money to provide all the services required in a rapidly growing land. Where can they get more? How can they pay their bills?

In a perfect society the government which spends should also have to collect the necessary tax. But failing that, unconditional grants are essential. They are far superior to either overburdening the property owner with too-heavy taxes, or worse still, adding to confusion and duplication, by introducing all sorts of municipal income and sales taxes to the village tax collector's roster.

TURKEYS MAY FLUTTER

Turkeys may be a little higher than last year this Christmas. There are some 15 per cent less turkeys in the country this year. But the price trend will be clearer once the U.S. November 26 Thanksgiving Day is past.

AFTER 40 YEARS!

The passenger on an Alberta train looked at all the conductor's badges, and was told each one counted for five years, for a total of 40.

"Do you like the work?" the passenger asked.
"I thing I'll stay," snapped the conductor.

Agricultural SERVICE BOARD NOTES

W.K. Snyder,
Field Supervisor

Birdfoot Trefoil: Some of you will recall us telling you that we planted a number of experimental plots of trefol in the spring of 1952. We have been watching these plots with interest to see how well this of legume is suited to this locality. Of the seven plots, six of them did quite well. Only one, however, was harvested for seed.

Last Tuesday, Ed Snyder, who has a farm west of Crossfield, sent us word that he would be threshing his test plot that day. He had sown the one acre plot and then picked it up with the combine. I am not able to say for sure but I judge that probably 150 pounds of seed was harvested. This, I think, was a good yield in view of the fact that it was the first crop and also that Ed had pastured sheep on the plot till July. Apparently birdfoot trefol is very palatable, both as green pasture and also as cured hay.

Furthermore, I am told, it will not cause bloat in livestock. As time goes on and we observe how well suited this new legume is to this locality we will be in a better position to give you more accurate information about it. In the meantime, I think it shows favorable prospects.

DANGEROUS GAME

For a nation that depends so much on foreign trade as Canada, we are getting on dangerous ground indeed when we give serious consideration to a system of two prices for our products, high for home market, low for exports.

Two can play at this little game, warns The Financial Post.

If Canada starts offering cut-rate bargains to Britain or other big food purchasers, certainly our competitors will be tempted to do the same. Moreover, if we offer our so-called surplus products abroad below the Canadian market, what sort of argument can we put up if, say, Japan or Germany start offering us textiles, or toys or sewing machines at cut rates?

Of course when other nations do that we call it dumping. We would be more honest to call it the same thing when we do it ourselves.

Sask. Donations Through The Largest For 'CARE' Study Window

Saskatchewan may not be the home of Canada's millionaires but it has always been noted as the home of the generous-hearted. When it comes to national appeals, the experience of CARE, a non-profit organization for relief, is no exception. Saskatchewan has, over the years, consistently moved between a position of second or third in provincial donations in spite of the far greater wealth of many of the other provinces.

CARE officials continue to find that the greatest need for assistance lies with the Asiatic peoples of the world. Korea's need is perhaps even greater, rather than less, since the truce, as the homecoming soldiers report that the Korean civilian loses a friend in need with every homecoming veteran. The army has always been a great haven for the poor and hungry.

When everything else has failed the daily garbage disposal of the various army units has been awaited every day by crowds of patriotically hungry Koreans who go through every slightest scrap as avidly as a connoisseur selecting great delicacies.

To people who have been reduced to this level it is hard to estimate what a CARE parcel means. It is the difference between life and death in many cases and it is no wonder that returning veterans have joined the organization. They have been among the first to contribute to the worthy cause.

A special parcel for Korean civilians is offered by CARE at present for the nominal price of $5. It is a 27-pound parcel and includes four and a half pounds of surplus meat.

Since 1946 CARE has shipped the equivalent of 400,000 loaves of bread; 275,000 turkeys, 125,000 pigs, 2,000,000 cans of baby food, 32,000 head of cattle, 27,500,000 pounds of butter and fats, 31,200,000 bowls or rice, 67,500,000 cups of tea.

Five hundred and ten miles of woolen suiting material, blankets, layettes, knitting wool, underwear, stockings and others garments have been dispatched, plus hundreds of yards of cotton to be made up.

Tools have gone out in the form of 2,508 ploughs, 13,790 agricultural handtools and 6,000 industrial hand tools.

Medical supplies have been sent to the extent of 6,700 items of nurses' and midwives' equipment, $10,000 worth of wheelchairs and kits for the blind and disabled, and $1,800,000 worth of drugs, instruments, iron lungs, radium and other medical and dental equipment.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
At Christian Science churches on Sunday, the title of the Lesson-Sermon is "Mortals and Immortals." It includes these uplifting citations from the Bible: "Know ye that the Lord he is God: it is he that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture." Ps. 100: 3. And from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "All that is made in the work of God, and all is good. We should look away from the opposite supposition that man is created materially, and turn our gaze to the spiritual record of creation, to that which should be engraved on the understanding and heart 'with the point of a diamond and the pen of an angel.'" (521: 5, 6, 12 — 17).

Dear Editor:
... the letters start. Then from all over the free world come such comments as these from readers of THE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR, an international daily newspaper:

"I returned to school after a lapse of 18 years. I will get my degree from the college, but my education comes from the Monitor."
"The Monitor gives me ideas for my work."
"I truly enjoy its company."

By REV. C. C. ARMSTRONG

What was once referred to as Armistice Day, with particular reference to the war of 1914-18, has now become Remembrance Day, and calls to mind the sacrifice of life made during the two world wars. War, which at one time was carried on as a specialized activity by military forces, has now become a holocaust involving all the world, both soldier and civilian. It is the gravest social problem of our time, although its basic causes have existed in the sinful heart since the beginning of time.

The use of more and more powerful methods of destruction, on a vaster scale than ever before, has merely emphasized the moral issues already in existence. Humanity, organized on national lines, has been willing to expend far more for guns than for God; more for munitions than for missions. Those who have died on the field of battle have no wish that we, who are the beneficiaries of their sacrifice, should die as they have died. Rather their wish would be that we should so apply ourselves to the problems of life that an equivalent sacrifice, in ways that make for peace, would have its effect in preventing wars.

Three well-known members of parliament, who are members of the United Church, have expressed the concern of lay people in this matter of the bearing of Christian faith in its social consequences. The Hon. Lester B. Pearson has stated that: "In the troubled world of today, in which the significance of Canada's part is increasing, it is important that the citizens of this country should take a greater interest in international affairs. It is, therefore, encouraging to know that members of the United Church are devoting increasing attention to the position of the church in world affairs and are applying the test of Christian ethics to the conduct of our foreign policy."

The Hon. Gordon Graydon has said: "It is but natural and practical in these critical days that military preparedness and economic stability, coupled with international sharing on a generous scale with the underprivileged peoples of the earth have a vital place. If we are to preserve our way of life we have to demonstrate that we deserve to possess it. In the long run, however, the nation or community which puts on the whole armour of God and places its emphasis on moral and spiritual values will survive."

The Rev. Stanley Knowles (Winnipeg North Centre) has said: "If we are to achieve an enduring peace we must first endeavor to create those conditions which are the basis of the moral and material welfare of mankind. The grave problems that confront mankind in our day and generation will not be solved by the might of military power but only to the extent that we recognize these needs and undertake the necessary measures to satisfy them."

Rugby W.I. Hold Monthly Meeting

Fourteen members and four visitors met at the home of Mrs. Alex Blain on November 5. The meeting opened with singing and repeating of the creed. Minutes and correspondence were read.

Roll call was a knitted 9-inch square for a quilt to be given to the Old Folks Home in Didsbury.

First prize for the blocks, which were judged by Mrs. H. Christensen and Mrs. John Hansen, went to Mrs. Percy Hoesgood.

It was decided that the W.I. would finish paying for the dishes bought recently.

Mrs. Hogg had the handicraft topic for the afternoon. She had the handicraft convenor, Mrs. H. Christensen, demonstrate the making of nylon flowers, which was very interesting.

Mrs. Wahl turned in a quilt top she had made from samples obtained from a local store. One dollar is to be sent to the "Pennies for Friendship" fund.

Proceeds from the chicken supper which the W.I. and the hall board sponsored was approximately $57 for the W.I., that being half of the proceeds. Thanks to all who helped make it a success.

Two quilts are to be made at the home of Mrs. Alfred Cowitz on Tuesday, November 24. Mrs. Wahl read an interesting article on Niagara Falls for her five-minute topic. The crib quilt was raffled and won by Mrs. Bruce Nelson.

An article was read on Mrs. Morton, who passed away recently.

SPRINGSIDE NOTES

(From Our Own Correspondent)

The Springside Ladies' Group held their November meeting at the home of Mrs. Bill Collinge, with an attendance of 14. The afternoon was spent quilting for the Red Cross.

After a lengthy discussion it was decided to hold a whist drive every two weeks during the winter. Proceeds will go towards treats for children of the district at Christmas and for other needs that may arise.

Next meeting will be held the first Tuesday in December at the home of Mrs. A. Shannon.

The first whist drive was held at Mrs. L. Chandler's on Friday with eight tables in play. Top honors went to Mrs. B. Rodney and Mr. Lloyd Chandler, consolation to Mrs. Vern Wriglesworth and Mr. Hugh Martin.

The travelling prize was won by Rita Rodney. The next whist drive will be held Friday, Nov. 21 at the Bill Collinge home.

MOUNTAIN VIEW

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Mrs. Arthur Gebers visited in Calgary on Friday and Saturday of last week with friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Elliott were supper guests Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gebers.

Mr. and Mrs. James Worrall visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Cullen.

Mrs. Gertrude Pratt of Calgary visited in town for a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pratt.

Ladies are asked to keep in mind the Mountain View W.I. meeting, next Thursday, Nov. 19, at the home of Mrs. Walter Pratt. Everybody welcome.

Sunday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Neil McKay were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pratt and family and Mr. and Mrs. Art Orange and family.

M.V.B.C. NEWS

Emerald Garrett and his wife are comfortably situated in one of the College apartments and the former has taken up his studies in the College. Bill Shaw registered Monday in 12 hours of work. So it goes. Some of these students may be a bit late in their registration but all the teachers are most anxious to help them with back work, and with such interest given them personally, they will soon find their studies looking less difficult. We welcome each of these into our midst.

Rev. and Mrs. Stewart, who were entertained in the College during the recent series of revival meetings held in the United Missionary Church, left Monday morning for points north. They will visit relatives and friends before returning to their pastorate in Portland, Ore. We have sincerely appreciated these splendid people as they mingled with us around the school.

Three young men from Canadian Nazarene College were guests of the school on Sunday. One of them was a nephew of Mr. Stewart, the evangelist.

The Living Endowment League subscriptions are really coming in. Friends from far and near have taken out anywhere from one to 10 units of $10 each as they seek to impact the college. Lovely embossed certificates are given those who take out and pay for one subscription. We expect that before another year we will have sold 300 such units.

We are glad to report that Mrs. Prior is able to take her place in the classroom again after a siege of illness during the last 10 days.

During the coming weeks before Christmas, E. L. Lusk of the music department will take thirteen services on various fields in connection with extension work in the United Missionary Church Conference. Mr. Taylor will take five appointments also.

Rev. D. M. Taylor, president of the College, will begin a series of revival services in Mountain View U.M.C. on Sunday, November 15. Those in that community will want to so plan their work that they will be able to hear him speak from night to night for the entire week.

20TH CASUALTY

Last week 13-year-old Beatrice Tuninga of Neerlandia, northwest of Edmonton, was killed when the tractor she was operating overturned on an icy road.

The fact that 20 deaths have been caused by farm tractors in Alberta this year points to the necessity of more care being taken while working with this machine.
